

IR Faculty

The Interventional Radiology Division of the Department of Radiology in the College of Medicine at the University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences (UAMS) in Little Rock, AR is seeking a full-time a faculty member. The Division of Interventional Radiology is responsible for providing quality interventional care to patients across the region and country. The IR Division performs more than 9,000 interventional cases per year. Our clinical practice includes an HHT Center of Excellence and an internationally recognized multi-disciplinary vascular anomalies team. UAMS is the only kidney and liver transplant program in the state and the only Level 1 trauma center in the state, the hub of stroke care and intervention, not to mention our role in supporting world-renowned programs in myeloma and neurosurgery. We currently have an IR/DR integrated residency program.

In addition to Interventional Radiology, the Department of Radiology faculty offer expertise across key Divisions including Breast, Diagnostic & Imaging (MRI/CT/US), Interventional Neuroradiology, Nuclear Medicine, Neuroradiology, Radiology Sciences and Pediatric Radiology. We deliver comprehensive outpatient and inpatient care in conjunction with appropriate consultants and specialists for the diagnosis of a broad spectrum of diseases. Our mission is to provide high quality patient care while training the next generation of interventional radiologists.

Faculty candidates must hold an M.D. or equivalent degree and have medical licensure or eligibility in Arkansas. The candidate must be BE/BC by the ABR with an IR/DR Certificate.
