The Radiologic Society of North America (RSNA) offers free membership to their society and to multiple radiology journals through their “Members-in-Training” program.

Click here to submit an application for free membership.

You must also complete a “Program Verification Form,” which you can find by following this link. The verification form requires a signature from a “Director or Coordinator of current program,” such as Dr. Latch, along with a copy of your curriculum vitae (CV), and updated educational history within the RSNA website’s profile webpage.
